Right to Bargain Collectively, Free Speech, and Free Assembly are Prominent

Suggests Action to Round Table Conference—Each Group to Appoint Representative

RALPH COUCH, (United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Oct. 9.—Immediate arbitration of the steel strike was proposed to the industrial conference today by President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor.

Gompers suggested the conference appoint an arbitration board to mediate the strike and the strikers return to work pending a settlement.

Under Gompers' plan each group in the conference would get representatives to make up the steel strike arbitration board.

Other proposals of the labor group of which Gompers is the head included resolutions put on record for: Right to organize and bargain collectively.

Right of employers to organize into associations or groups to bargain collectively, the eight hour day with one rest in seven and Saturday half holiday. Overtime work should be discouraged but when it is absolutely necessary it should be paid for at the rate of time and half. Women to get equal pay with men for equal work and should not be permitted to perform tasks disproportionate to their strength. Children under 16 years of age should not be employed. Prohibition of immigrants for two years after the peace treaty is ratified was recommended to keep down overflow.

All labor proposals represented the unanimous judgment of the labor group which includes representatives of the four big railway brotherhoods. A. A. Landon, also one of the representatives of the public, presented a proposal for a national labor truce to last three months. The truce immediately terminates all strikes and walkouts. A plan of labor adjustments was also presented by Secretary Wilson. Wilson's plan provides for an arbitration body in each industry. Labor, the employer and the president should each appoint one-third of the members of the board. A decision should be unanimously voted and morally binding on employers and employees.

Another resolution proposed by the public group provides that employers shall retain the right to organize. Reduction in living costs should be the first step in any attempt to better industrial conditions according to a resolution by H. Russell, a socialist member of the labor group.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS. At Saloniki.

How Hot Springs Originate.

The deepest coal mine in England is at Killingworth, near Newcastle, and the mean annual temperature at 400 yards below the surface is 77 degrees, and at 300 yards 70 degrees, while at the surface it is but 48 degrees. This explains the origin of hot springs, for at 3,200 yards the heat would be equal to boiling water, taking 20 yards to a degree. The heat of the bath water is 110 degrees, hence they would appear to rise 1,320 yards. Person relates that at a depth of 2,144 feet in the sea the thermometer falls to 45 degrees, when it is 80 degrees at the surface. Swenberg and Fourier calculate the temperature of the celestial spaces at 50 degrees Centigrade below freezing. In northern Siberia the ground is frozen permanently to the depth of 600 feet, and only thaws to the extent of three or four feet in summer. Below 650 feet internal heat begins.

The Locomotive Electric Washer embodies many valuable features not found in any other washer. It is built to give satisfaction, and the materials used in its construction are the best that money can buy.

The movement of the boiler causes a violent agitation of the water in the form of a figure 8. In this way, forcing the water through the fabric cleansing thoroughly and quickly.

The movement of the boiler and the heat under it, form a forceful vacuum and steam action, hastening the cleansing process, sterilizing the clothes at the same time.

The Locomotive Washer is simple in construction, easy to operate, and there is nothing to get out of order. Built from a Woman's point of view.

You may look at other washers, but you will BUY A LOCOMOTIVE WASHER.

Mrs. A. M. McQuig of New York City will be here next week to demonstrate the machine.

Brockway-Holmes

Miss Hazel M. Brockway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brockway, 923 Fir street, was married to Sidney E. Holmes of Geneva at the home of her parents on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Rev. E. A. Cooke, pastor of the First Methodist church officiating.

It was a quiet home wedding with all appointments simplicity itself. In the presence of a group of friends and relatives the vows were spoken in the parlor of the home decorated with flowers and ferns for the occasion.

The bride was unattended. She wore a blue traveling suit and carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

A wedding supper was served after the ceremony. Among the out of town guests were Mrs. E. E. Daniels of Staples and Mrs. A. G. Bacon of Pillager.

The bridegroom is from Geneva and is a traveling salesman of the U. S. Tire & Rubber Co. The bride is a charming girl, graduate of the Brainerd high school and a teacher for several years. After a short wedding trip to the Twin Cities and the Dakotas, they will make their home in Watertown, S. D.

Favored Fabrics for Hats.

Hatter's plush, duvety and velvet continue to be the fabrics most in demand for fall hats, and the variety in effect in these models is made infinite by the many different styles of trimming.

Feathers of all kinds seem to be the type of trimming best adapted to duvety hats, the soft, suede-like fabric and the drooping ostrich, blonde or even coque, making a very smart combination.

The Scapegrace

By EMMELINE L. FORSTER

(Copyright, 1919, by the Western Newspaper Union.)

They were orderly homespun people in and around Pebleford, all but Larry—Larry Mathee. So wild and irrational were some of the freaks of this unique character that parents with well behaved sons wondered if after all a good deal was not due to Larry in the way of example of warning. He could upset the little settlement over night and appear so docile and penitent the next day that the sufferers through his mischief were ready to forgive and nearly everybody loved him.

It was when Larry went to the cross roads among a rough crowd that the bottled up vim and hilarity with which he overflowed was freely distributed upon returning to his native heath. He lived with an uncompanionable crochety old grandfather, who allowed him to drift unrestrained for the present and neither thought of nor cared for his future.

Larry's freaks were more of the heedless school boy order than in any way vicious or criminal.

"You'll go just once too often down among that roystering set at the cross-roads," was the prophecy of the town marshal.

"Every man there is my particular friend and would lay down his life for me," asserted Larry staunchly.

"If you'd only keep respectable for a whole year at a time, instead of once in a while," sighed Dolly Prentice, the storekeeper's daughter.

"Yes, all right, what then, Dolly?" eagerly questioned Larry. "Say some word of promise and let me try the new tack," but Dolly shook her pretty head dolorously.

So Larry went his way and Dolly mourned, and one Saturday afternoon Larry, with his month's hard earned wages in his pocket, started jauntily in the direction of the crossroads. It was early Monday morning when Dolly Prentice gasped and trembled as the first customer of the day entered the store. "Oh, have you heard about Larry Mathee?" she questioned. "He's in, at last!"

"In—where?" asked Dolly, a quick catch in her voice.

"In jail. The marshal locked him up at midnight. It's robbery, they say—burglary and all that."

"He has, this time," persisted the customer. "A cent! Oh, my, not that, but thousands! Larry broke into the Waltham place last night and took everything in sight. They found the plunder on him and when he got his head clear this morning all he told the marshal was, 'Bring on the trial quick, and get through with it!'"

That was a bustling day for the town. Its jail comprised the office of the marshal with a barred room behind. A group gazed upon Larry, who was smiling, undaunted. The sages came with "I told you so," explanations. Ultra conscientious persons passed the gawson prison with a shudder. But the children, the petted favorites of this audacious monster of crime—there were tears in the eyes of their hero and champion of the past as pitying faces gazed past the bars, and banded through them this one apple, that a doughnut, and one tiny urchin a toothsome lunch put up by the mother who owed the child's life to the bravery of Larry in a runaway accident. And just at dusk Dolly tearfully appeared and broke down utterly.

"Don't cry, Dolly," said Larry; "I'm through."

"Yes, I see you are," sobbed Dolly; "all through, indeed?"

"I mean with illness and the cross-roads. I've had my warning. Soon as I'm out I'll prove it to you."

"As soon as you're out—oh, Larry! will you ever be out again?"

"In a jiffy," declared Larry brightly. "Miss Waltham saw the robber and is coming tomorrow to identify me. Watch her! I wanted a day's time to fix things right—for a friend."

"He's not the man I saw through the screen from my garden," announced the rich old spinster.

"But your money and jewels were found in his possession," observed the marshal.

"If you'll speak with me alone, Miss," said Larry, "I'll explain how that was."

She was the sole auditor of the story—how it was Ross Burdell who had committed the theft—Ross Burdell, who had become half demented by the loss of his wife and three children all within the space of a year. Unhinged by his great sorrow, eager to get away amid new scenes, had been driven to crime. Larry Mathee, but a friend, indeed, had come upon him just after the theft. He had shown him the frightful error he was committing. He had half of his salary left which he gave Burdell to take him to a distant point, promising to return the plunder.

"And he'll make a man of himself, trust me!" declared loyal Larry. "And that's my best now, too."

The word of Miss Waltham was sufficient to sustain the innocent Larry. A year later when, a stranger to the crossroads forever, he married Dolly Prentice, people wondered at the splendid wedding present that came from the rich old spinster.

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well As Men

Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anemic-looking men, women and girls with puffy or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is a sign you have been eating too much meat, which forms uric acid.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. (This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.)

More Sugar Eaten Since Prohibition

(By United Press)

Boston, Oct. 9.—The effect of prohibition on the sugar supply of the country is already apparent, according to W. K. Green, general manager of the American Sugar Refining here. He also says that more sugar has been brought into the country this year than ever before.

Persons accustomed to liquor are now turning to candy and other sweets to satisfy the craving for alcohol. It was pointed out at a conference between sugar manufacturers and the State Commission on the Necessities of Life.

Dwight P. Thomas, head of the Revere Sugar Refining Company, declared that the consumption of sugar in the United States will be the largest in the history of the country. Last year, he said, the total consumption was 3,800,000 tons. For the first six months of 1919 the consumption reached 2,000,000 tons, and probably will be more than 4,000,000.

Thomas asserted that the export trade has no effect on the domestic sugar supply.

His "bag" during the war includes President Wilson, signed at Paris; General Pershing, Marshal Foch and Field Marshal Haig, all signed on the battlefield; Admiral Beatty, signed on the Lion during the battle of Heligoland; Admiral Jellicoe, signed at the Iron Duke; General Sir Stanley Maude, signed at Bagdad; Marshal Joffre, signed at Buckingham Palace; Vedrines, the French "ace," and Madame Botchkareva, commanded of the Russian Women's Battalion of Death.

Recently an Australian soldier, Corporal S. B. Williams, walked into Buckingham Palace, asked for and actually secured autographs from King George, Queen Mary and the Prince of Wales; and this following many similar triumphs induced the "Digger" to claim the championship, but Bray says he has his beaten.

REDUCES THE ARMY TO PEACE BASIS

LEGISLATION IN EFFECT THAT NECESSITATES THE DISMISSAL OF 10,000 OFFICERS.

RE-ADJUSTMENT IS BIG JOB

Eighteen Thousand Officers Will Be Retained, But There Must Be Sacrifices of Rank and Pay Throughout the Service.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—The army of the United States has been reduced to almost its normal strength. It now numbers about 340,000 men and 28,000 officers. The high water mark of the war was reached November 11, last year, the day that the armistice was signed, when the payroll of the army contained the names of 3,670,888 men. A bill signed by the president the other day provides that there shall not be more than 18,000 commissioned officers from October 3, 1919, until June 30, 1920. This means that 10,000 officers must be let out. The legislation which the president has just approved also authorizes the secretary of war to retain such officers as may be necessary in grades above their present rank.

Difficult as the process of building up the army has been, the tearing down and shaping into a peace time organization is a more difficult matter. The difficulties of adjustment have been increased by the uncertainties as to the future military policy of the government, the inadequacy of pay in the face of the high cost of living and the failure of all classes to realize that economies must be promptly met. In peace there cannot be permitted the latitude in the use of officers that is necessary in war and the rank and promotion of officers must be governed by consideration of length of service, experience and general value to the military establishment as well as of accomplishments during the war.

Ten Thousand Must Go.

In anticipation of the passage of the bill providing for 18,000 officers, the war department allotted this number of officers to various commands and military activities of the army at home and abroad. The total number of officers that may be retained by any command or activity for the time being was fixed and the commanding officers of these organizations were directed to select, from the officers under their command, a sufficient number of temporary officers who, with their regular officers, will complete their quota of the 18,000. These selections are well under way and it will be necessary that the discharge from the service of all temporary officers not so selected for retention, be accomplished before November 1, 1919.

This means the discharge within the next few weeks of approximately 10,000 emergency officers, most of whom desire to remain in the service but for whom there are no vacancies under the law. In determining the manner in which temporary officers are to be retained, the department has been guided by the consideration that the immediate commanders know best the relative merits of the officers under their command and are best qualified to judge which officers will be of the greatest value to the military establishment for the particular work to be accomplished by this establishment between now and June 30, 1920. The army has important work to do before that date, and the retention of temporary officers must be based upon their fitness to do this work rather than as a reward for their services during the war.

Ranks Must Be Readjusted.

The war department has fixed the number of officers that there may be in each grade of the 18,000 officers, thereby terminating the opportunity for extensive promotion that has existed during the war. In getting the 18,000 officers into these grades, there must be sacrifices of rank and pay throughout the service; a necessary consequence of readjusting the rank of officers from that held in a military force having 200,000 officers to those they can properly hold in a force having only 18,000 officers.

The temporary officers to be retained will be largely applicants for permanent appointment. These officers along with all others have reached grades in the large army raised during the war that cannot expect to hold in the small peace-time force. A determination of the decrease in rank of these officers in order to properly fit them into the new commissioned force will be made by the war department and announced in orders.

Among both regular army and temporary officers there now exist many inequalities of relative rank due to the circumstances of war and to the piecemeal demobilization of our military forces. The recent instructions issued indicate that in distributing such rank as the apportionment by grades of the 18,000 officers permits, the chief of staff has taken the step that will definitely end on October 31 the unsatisfactory conditions, curtail the expense of the army and bring the rank of officers in the army to a proper basis.

For practically all officers this means a decrease in their present rank, and it means a material saving in the pay of officers. For example, instead of approximately 1,100 officers in the grade of colonel, there will be 693 on November 1.

Return to Private Control

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 9.—The Great Northern railroad today laid plans for return to private control. Stockholders and directors were here for their annual meeting and elections.

The meeting will be one of the most important in the history of the road. Although there is no immediate prospect of the railroads being turned back from federal control it is believed they will be back under private control some time this winter or early in the coming year.

"Moorehead Kick"

Moorehead, Minn., Oct. 9.—Moorehead, once the oasis for thirsty North Dakotans, now refuses to even grant licenses to sell "soft drinks". The city council had suspicions that the famous "Moorehead kick" did not die with prohibition but emigrated to "soft drinks."

New Lubricating Idea.

The bearings of the earliest automobiles were lubricated by squirting oil through the old-fashioned oil holes. That system soon gave way to oil cups, and now most cars are fitted with screw-down grease cups. But, it seems, a couple of years ago there was invented and patented in Great Britain a device that may supersede grease cups on automobiles and probably also on other machinery. It is an adaptation of the well-known collapsible lead tubes, so widely used for artists' colors and for medicated and toilet pastes, etc. The capsules have a screw thread that fits an adapter, which is fastened to the part to be lubricated. The lead capsule and the brass adapter make tight joint, and all that is necessary is to apply pressure from time to time, as desired. When the grease capsule is empty, it can be unscrewed and a new one put in its place.

Another "Origin of Dixie"

Before the Civil war the old Citizens' bank of New Orleans, having the power to issue paper money, provided quantities of bills, most of ten dollar denomination, having the French word "Dix" on their backs. This money became popular, according to this theory, Louisiana was referred to as the land of the "Dixies." Eventually the term was broadened to include all of the southern states.

MEXICAN QUESTION BECOMES INSISTENT

CAVALRY WOULD GET CHANCE

Nature of the Terrain Is Not Suited to the Most Modern Methods of Warfare—Campaign Against Garza Recalled.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—The Mexican intervention mark has become sharper than an exclamation point. Nobody in Washington knows definitely just what the United States intends to do with Mexico. There are daily stories of actual intervention on a big scale, and there are stories to the effect that things are to go on as they have been going on for years. Some of the congressmen say that one day there will be a terrific happening which will unloose things and send them in the shape of armies southward across the border. Others say no, and there you are.

Even such expeditions into Mexico as now occasionally are undertaken by United States forces are huge affairs as compared to the military doings of the United States along the border and beyond it during the years which intervened between the Mexican war in the late forties and the mobilization of American troops on the border eight years ago under the orders of President Taft.

Army men say that while time has changed everything militarily, it never has changed the nature of the Mexican terrain and that therefore if the United States ever shall be compelled to go into Mexico in force, warfare, except for its implements, will be carried on pretty much as it was years ago.

Would Give Cavalry a Chance.

The American cavalry had little or nothing to do in the great war which has just closed. Army men say the cavalry plus a little field artillery will have more to do if we ever shall invade Mexico than it would fall to the lot of the doughboys to do, and that thus for once the infantry would be compelled to play second fiddle to their mounted brethren.

When Colonel Dodd made his tremendous ride after bandits just prior to the sending of Pershing's force into Mexico a few years ago, he did just what was done the other day when another cavalry force undertook to run down the bandits who had captured two American aviators and held them for ransom. Bandits take a hot pace on the trail and it is necessary if they are to be caught that the pursuing cavalrymen shall take up a superheated trail.

Not all our rows with Mexican banditti have been staged on Mexican soil. Maj. Gen. Joseph T. Dickman, who is now in command of the American troops on the border, fought Mexican banditti as a first lieutenant 28 years ago, but fought them on Texan soil. In fact, Dickman as a junior officer had about two years' experience with these elusive gentlemen.

While army officers say that the Mexican country will be a hard one in which to round up all the bands which it ultimately may be necessary to go after, they know and say that Texas terrain in which one antibandit campaign was carried on was as bad, if not worse, than any country that can be found south of the Rio Grande.

In 1892 all the American troops available in the southern department and some troops from elsewhere were sent into the chapparal country of Texas to round up bandits under the leadership of Catarino E. Garza, who at one time was supposed to have designs on the presidency of Mexico, then held by Diaz.

Round-Up of Garza's Band.

Garza and some 200 of his followers, using American soil as their base, went on a raid into Mexico and put a military garrison to the sword; then they fled back into the United States and headed into the dense chapparal along the lower Rio Grande, particularly in Neuces county. The Third U. S. cavalry was turned loose near what was called the King Ranch country, and Dodd and Dickman were officers in the Third at that time.

The chapparal was so dense and some of the Mexican-Texan natives were so friendly to the bandits that it took the United States two years to complete the round-up, and when it was done there were less than 300 men in the tolls.

Catarino E. Garza, the leader, never was captured. He disappeared completely and no one knows what became of him. There was a rumor that he headed a revolt in one of the Central American countries and was killed, but definite proof of the fact never has been adduced.

Washington today is again tremendously interested in the Mexican question. Some startling predictions concerning what may be done in the near future frequently are heard. It may be that Mexico will enter largely as a question into the next presidential campaign, and this seems likely to happen even if the condition of things remains as it is today, for Mexico, like the poor, the American people always have with them.

London hospitals last year cost £1,710,030.

MY HEAD!

When the head feels thick or aches, when one feels all out-of-sorts—perhaps a coated tongue—it is the signal that poisons are accumulating in the system, and should be cleaned out at once.

Auto-intoxication can be best ascribed to our own neglect or carelessness. When the organs fail in the discharge of their duties, the putrefactive germs set in and generate toxins—actual poisons, which fill one's own body.

Sleepiness after meals, flushing of the face, extreme lassitude, biliousness, dizziness, sick headache, acidity of the stomach, heartburn, offensive breath, anemia, loss of weight and muscular power, decrease of vitality or lowering of resistance to infectious diseases, disturbance of the eye, dyspepsia, indigestion, gastritis, many forms of catarrh, asthma, ear affections and allied ailments result from auto-intoxication or self-poisoning.

Take castor oil, or procure at the drug store, a pleasant vegetable laxative, called Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, composed of May-apple, aloes and jalap.

Men of Probity.

Good literature proceeds from men of natural probity, and since one ought rather to praise the inception than the result, you should give greater praise to a man of probity unskilled in letters than one skilled in letters but devoid of probity.—Leonardo da Vinci (translated by Edward McCurdy).

Encouraging Bolshevism

Everything that falsely encourages unrest also encourages bolshevism.

Misunderstanding of American industrial organization, and of its benefits to mankind, leads to unrest, dissatisfaction, and radicalism.

For example, the Federal Trade Commission tells the public that the large packers had an agreed price for lard substitute (made of cotton-seed oil.)

But it failed to mention that the agreed price was determined at the request of and in co-operation with the Food Administration!

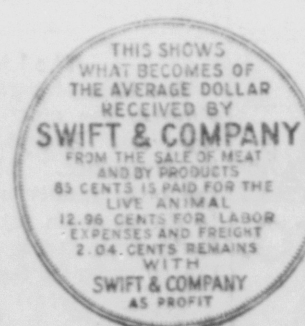

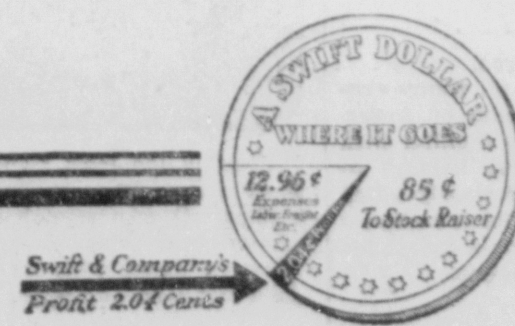

Even the Department of Justice, in its unjust attempt to create prejudice against the packers, has made public these same letters, with no explanation.

How long must this kind of misrepresentation continue? In so far as it is believed, it not only breeds discontent, but results in injustice to our industry.

AMERICAN LEGION TO AID IN BONUS

Will Assist Returned Soldiers in Making Out Bonus Applications, Answering 50 Questions

MEETING HELD WEDNESDAY

Men Addressed by Rev. W. H. Johnson, Chairman of the Staples Post, on Spirit of Soldiers

An enthusiastic meeting of the American Legion was held Wednesday evening in the hall above the Citizens State Bank Building. A large representation of the returned service men was present to hear the interesting talk by Rev. W. H. Johnson, chairman of the Staples Post, and to discharge the business. Mr. Johnson very ably told of the spirit of the men who were over there, his 10 months experience in France affording him a fine opportunity of forming his own judgments.

It was decided that the chairman appoint a committee to attend to the matter of assisting the returned men in answering the 50 or more questions asked on the forms of applications for the bonus. This committee will be appointed at once and the names announced in the Dispatch.

The chairman was empowered to appoint a social committee to provide for the social interests of the men. At the next meeting refreshments will be served, to be followed by a dance, or a card party, possibly a boxing match will be staged.

All of the members were asked to act on a committee of the whole to increase the membership of the Legion.

The membership is crowding 100 and each day adds to the number.

BRAINERD'S OLDEST STORIES OF TODAY

The advent of so many electric wash machines in Brainerd and their purchase by men of the household who are intent on lightening the arduous labor of their better halves, has resulted in a general emancipation of many families. When father comes home to dinner on Monday, he finds the proverbial wash day meal has been discarded and a good dinner is on the table. There is no smoke or steam about and the household is as neat as a pin and nothing is upset. Besides saving household work, time and money, these washers are one of the best things women have ever had in their homes for they preserve tempers and present a smiling front.

A transposition of letters will often work wonders in the change made in a word. Last night somebody advertised for a girl to assist with housework and care of children and a transposition of the word "care" to "acre" made it read a girl to take care of an "acre" of children. This would tax the capacity of any girl and would be harder than attending to a flock of sheep.

Lake of Crosby. Another order just received is for two carloads at Ironton. On Saturday Mr. Beare will place on sale some of his cabbage farm's output to supply the needs of Brainerd.

LYCEUM COURSE PROVES ATTRACTIVE

First Number by Minneapolis Operatic Company is Largely Attended Wednesday

INTRODUCTORY SPEECH MADE

By Mrs. W. H. Gemmell—Rev. E. G. Carlson Who Heads Course Thanks for Cooperation

The first number of the General Extension Division, University of Minnesota Lyceum course, the Minneapolis Operatic company, drew a large attendance at Gardner auditorium. The course in Brainerd is being given under the direction of Rev. E. G. Carlson, who individually has shouldered responsibility for the course and in his address at the entertainment thanked the public for their cooperation and especially the business men for their fine support of the project.

Mrs. W. H. Gemmell spoke of the advantages accruing from the course and paid a tribute to the work of former President Vincent of the university. With the prospects of shorter hours, better pay and a lessening in the high cost of living, people in general would be able to pay more attention to the fine things a lyceum had to offer.

The program of the Minneapolis operatic company was a varied one and each number evoked applause. The quartet composed of Donald Bennyhoff tenor, Clarence Scheibbasso, Ebba Norman soprano and Lael Johnson contralto, was one of the best ever heard in Brainerd. Their numbers ranged from the stirring Viking Song to the ever popular "Lac de Lammormoor" of Donizetti. "Woo Thou, Sweet Music," by Elgar gave the quartet opportunity to show its highest art. In the aria "The Jewel Song," from Faust, Ebba Norman revealed the most beautiful qualities of her voice. The contralto of Lael Johnson is one of wide range and she was heard to advantage in Meyerbeer's "My Noble Knights" of the Huguenots. The basso, Clarence Scheibb, and tenor, Donald Bennyhoff, were also heard in pleasing solos.

Hazel Steven's violin selections were very pleasing. Her tone is clear, limpid, liquid and her technique is of the best. Lillian Dahl, pianist, was accompanist and also gave one solo number, the "Marche Militaire," by Schubert-Tausig which was especially well rendered. The evening closed with the "Gypsy Trail," a song-commedietta in which five members of the company took part. Gardner auditorium was nicely arranged for the entertainment, the stage being supplied with decorations, furniture and piano donated by local merchants.

Missionary Says Exodus From Dry U. S. Has Begun

New York, Oct. 8—Jamaica is going to be the "mecca" of anti-prohibitionists this winter and the exodus from the United States has already begun, according to the Rev. Christopher Sullivan, a Jesuit missionary, who arrived yesterday on the steamship Turrialba.

He said the "wet" season would be in full swing in two months. American tourists, he said, formerly spent about $500,000 annually in Jamaica, but that the amount the coming year, he believed, would exceed $1,000,000.

Labor Enlists Movies to Help in Campaign

(By United Press)

London (By Mail)—Labor propaganda pills with Charlie Chaplin jam to tickle the palate, is the scheme of the Liverpool electrical trade union and the local trade council, which propose calling the movies to their aid in electioneering.

The two bodies are considering the construction of a trade union movie palace at a cost of $125,000, in which economic text-books and the powers of debate will be reinforced by films depicting technical trades and the development of the labor movement.

The promoters recognize that propaganda alone will not fill the building, but with the assistance of Charlie Chaplin films, and other popular "movie stars," it is considered a sound proposition.

Fighting for the privilege of entertaining the champion racquet wielders. Philadelphia, Pittsburg and several other prominent central and western towns want the 1920 matches.

The 1919 championship tournament at Forest Hills, L. I. was the best in the history of that sport which is only lately taking its real place with lovers of action. Ten thousand spectators at a tennis match would have provoked the old timers to laughter but the West Side Tennis Club set that mark. One of the most convincing arguments of the hold which tennis is getting on the nation was evidenced by the large percentage of the "common people" among the spectators.

Joe Jackson

Shoeless Joe Jackson of the Chicago White Sox is not only one of the best left fielders in the business, but he has been leading the batters in the world's series. His batting average for the first three games was .455, which any Chicago fan will tell you is some batting.

The record attendance at all the matches may have been caused by the wave of popularity which has swept all sports to the front since the cessation of hostilities. But it is due more to the efforts of the West Side club to remove the false notion that tennis was a "high brow" game. As long as the championship matches were held at Newport and hailed as the society event of the year among the "blue bloods" the best element of the sporting public—the ones whose support makes all sport go, were denied the opportunity of seeing what a real virile sport tennis really is.

Removal of the stage from Newport to Forest Hills put the tournament within reach of the sport loving class and the success of the venture was proved from the start.

The West side club wants the matches next year at Forest Hills but the club officials have declared a willingness to let some other city have it if the change will help the sport.

Considered as a Contract.

A certain business man is of the opinion that he has an exceedingly bright office boy, and nothing pleases him better than to tell how he acquired the youngster's services. A notice had been posted in the office window, which read as follows: "Boy wanted about fourteen years." A lad of that age, with little that was prepossessing in his appearance, came into the office and stated that he had read the notice. "So you think you would like to have the position?" asked the merchant patronizingly, as he gazed at the lad over the rim of his spectacles. "Yes, sir," was the reply. "I want the job, but I can't promise to keep it for the full fourteen years."

Wait in Patience.

Don't get discouraged. There is hope for everyone and success ahead for those who are willing to patiently await triumph. It is safer and surer for you if you'll follow the precedent of older and wiser persons than yourself. They probably know through keen and humiliating experience.—Exchange.
